TOM SHAKESPEARE,
KATH GILLESPIE-SELLS
AND DOMINIC DAVIES

Oppressed people resist by identifying themselves as subjects, by defining their reality, shaping their new identity, naming their history, telling their story.

bell hooks

Dedicated to the memory of William Shakespeare (1927-96), wonderful husband, father, doctor, and role model for disabled People.

We would like to thank the following individuals who have variously talked to us, shared their own research with us, supported us, advised us, helped us, and endured us during the writing of this book: Yvon Appleby, Len Barton, Tim Booth, Dilis Clare, Ashley Coldrick, David Colley, Jenny Cook, Liz Crow, Catherine Donovan, Mark Erickson, Liz Gibbs, Gail Hebson, Julie MacNamara, Julie Marshall, Monica Murphy, Oliver Phillips, Shirley Prendegast, Fiona Purdie, David Ruebain, Caroline Ryan, James Sells, Keith Tudor, Nicholas Watson. Tom would like to thank Sunderland university for giving him time off to carry out some of the research, and Leeds University for giving him the space to finish the writing. We would like to thank Roz Hopkins at Cassell, for keeping faith with the project, and for her patience when the work ran behind schedule. Most of all, we would like to thank all the disabled people who contributed to the research for telling us their desires.
