Dear Freedom of Information Response (Our Ref: K/21/047)

Thank you for your Freedom of Information (FOI) request dated 26 January 2021, reference K/21/47.

Your request read:

“1. The number of students who have dropped out of Leeds University so far this academic year 2020/21.
2. The number of students who had dropped out of Leeds University by the same point in each academic year, going back five years.
3. The total number of students who dropped out of uni in a single academic year for the past five years.”

The University of Leeds holds this information. For your convenience we have responded to each of your questions in turn.

1. The number of students who have dropped out of Leeds University so far this academic year 2020/21.

We are withholding the number of students who have withdrawn from study so far in 2020/21 under section 22 of the Freedom of Information Act. Section 22 sets out that information is exempt from disclosure if it is intended for future publication, either by the public authority themselves, or by another organisation.

The Higher Education Statistics Authority (HESA) is the Designated Data Body (DDB) for higher education in England as defined by the Higher Education and Research Act 2017 (HERA). This means that HESA is responsible for the publication of a range of information and statistics about university students, including non-continuation statistics. This information is published in January each year. Information in relation to the 2020/21 academic year will be published in January 2022. While this does not preclude individual providers from publishing information, to do so would result in unnecessary repeated effort on the part of the teams and staff members who compile our submissions to HESA. We also consider that an early release would undermine HESA in their DDB role.

Section 22 is a qualified exemption, which means that we are required to consider whether the public interest in the information outweighs the public interest in withholding it as this time. We have set out our considerations below.

We appreciate that there is an interest in student numbers, particularly given the ongoing covid-19 pandemic. However, we also consider that this information may be valuable to other provider organisations; allowing them to compare their own admissions and non-continuation statistics to ours, and in turn make some basic assumptions regarding our student-based income. This in turn may affect our own commercial sustainability in the higher education marketplace, since such information may be useful to competitor institutions and could inform their own policies regarding how to deal with changing student numbers. If potential students were attracted to other institutions as a result, then the university would suffer financially. This would not be in the public interest. There is also a strong public interest in preserving the role of HESA as the DDB.

We are therefore satisfied that the public interest is in favour of withholding the information under section 22.

2. The number of students who had dropped out of Leeds University by the same point in each academic year, going back five years.

3. The total number of students who dropped out of uni in a single academic year for the past five years.

We address these questions together. Please find the information we hold set out in the table below.
