Important Information
Information provided by the University such as in presentations, University brochures and the University website, is accurate at the time of first disclosure. However, courses, University services and content of publications remain subject to change. Changes may be necessary to comply with the requirements of accrediting bodies or to keep courses contemporary through updating practices or areas of study. Circumstances may arise outside the reasonable control of the University, leading to required changes. Such circumstances include, industrial action, unexpected student numbers, significant staff illness (where a course is reliant upon a person’s expertise), unexpected lack of funding, severe weather, fire, civil disorder, political unrest, government restrictions and serious concern with regard to the transmission of serious illness making a course unsafe to deliver. After a student has taken up a place with the University, the University will look to give early notification of any changes and try to minimise their impact, offering suitable alternative arrangements or forms of compensation where it believes there is a fair case to do so. Offers of a place to study at the University will provide up to date information on courses. The latest key information on courses, entry requirements and fees can be found at www.leeds.ac.uk/A2L. Please check this website before making any decisions.

I came across the Access to Leeds scheme whilst searching on the University's website. At the time I felt overwhelmed by the process of applying for university because I didn’t know anyone planning to study the same course as me. I am really pleased to have taken part in the scheme because it allowed me access to lots of support which helped me through the process – I felt like they were doing everything they could to help me.

Taking part in Access to Leeds ensured that I chose the best university for me. I am studying in an environment where I feel happy, comfortable and valued. The study skills module was great for giving me a taste of what it’s really like to study at university before I arrived. I was able to gain some experience of referencing and improving essays using feedback from a university tutor which is still valuable to me now.

Financial Support

We offer financial support to students from the UK (excluding Wales), which is linked to annual household income.

If you’re eligible you can choose how to receive this support, whether as a tuition fee discount, a discount in University accommodation, or as a cash sum. At the time of printing, our funding arrangements for students starting a course in September 2018 have not been finalised. More information should be available online by December 2017.

The University also has means-tested scholarships available, designed to support eligible students from a range of different backgrounds. Access to Leeds students will receive extra consideration for many of these awards.

In addition, loans and grants are available for certain students from the government.

Neither of my parents went to university so I knew the Access to Leeds scheme was right for me because it would make me feel more confident about applying. I was aware that the transition between school and university could be a large one so I wanted to feel as prepared as I could before I arrived.

As part of the scheme I came to as many on-campus events as I could. I was keen to meet current students at the University to get first-hand answers to the questions I had. I also really enjoyed meeting other students from the Access to Leeds scheme as it meant that I would already know people from a similar background to me before I arrived at university. It made settling into university life much easier than I expected.

I would advise any student thinking of applying to Access to Leeds to go for it, embrace the assignments and attend as many events as possible. Being at Leeds has allowed me to develop as a person, as well as do incredible things that I could only have dreamt of before coming.
